Hoffman Technologies Re-Launches VendorFuel Shopping Cart Plugin for WordPress

For Immediate Release   Kevin Hoffman
August 19th, 2019   kevin@hoffmantech.com

Rocklin, CA Mon, Aug. 19th 2019 – Hoffman Technologies, Inc., developer of the successful e-commerce wholesale-retail website ItemGrabber.com has announced the official re-launch of VendorFuel™, an advanced shopping cart Plugin for WordPress, the globally-dominant Content Management System (CMS) extremely popular with millions of website owners around the world.

VendorFuel offers an enterprise-grade e-commerce solution for WordPress users with advanced features and capabilities not commonly found in other shopping cart plugins available on the WordPress platform.

Built using AngularJS and Laravel, VendorFuel is designed to be a modern, lightweight shopping cart served as a single-page web application.

VendorFuel is offered as a subscription-based service and store owners can choose between three different pricing tiers ranging from nineteen dollars per month to ninety nine dollars per month. VendorFuel store owners can sell up-to 25 products at their website for nineteen dollars per month, up-to 100 products for forty-nine dollars per month, and can offer unlimited products for sale at their website with the ninety-nine dollar plan.

All VendorFuel pricing plans begin with an extended risk-free trial period so WordPress users are free to download VendorFuel and start selling products at their website for up-to ninety days with no cost or obligation.

VendorFuel version 2.6.4 is now available for download directly from the WordPress Plugin Repository (https://wordpress.org/plugins/vendorfuel)

For more information about the VendorFuel Plugin for WordPress contact Kevin Hoffman, CEO Hoffman Technologies, Inc. at kevin@hoffmantech.com

###

VendorFuel | Enterprise-Level eCommerce, Small Business Price